N.C. secures new broadband provider

Replacement sought after Liberty Communications failed to pay rent on antenna

BY BRAD BOWMAN
Reporter/Photographer

New Castle city commissioners signed a contract with a broadband company last week providing Internet service to county residents pushed off the grid during the city's break from Liberty Communications.

Several Henry County residents expressed the need for Internet service at a New Castle City Commission meeting earlier this month after the city turned off Liberty Communications' equipment. The commission decided not to renew the city's contract with Liberty Communications due to a breach of contract for lack of payment.

The company's owner had been given a month grace period despite not having paid rent for use of the city's water tower. New Castle City Commissioners voted to turn the service back on for a week on Oct.

1 to give county residents time to seek out other service.

Shelby Broadband signed a three-year contract with the city and will provide free service until Dec. 1.

Event to raise $ for Wounded Warriors

Allison Fleitz was raised by her grandfather who was a WWII navy veteran.

She has always been a supporter of the military and by hosting a benefit for the Wounded Warrior Project she honors her grandfather and the military.

"His generation could have really benefited from the Wounded Warrior Project," Fleitz said. "Last year in October I lost my grandfather and I wanted to do something to honor his memory and also help those who needed it."

The Wounded Warrior Project is for veterans who have sustained service-connected wounds, injuries or illnesses on or after Sept. 11, 2001 and their families. The project originally started as a way to relieve veterans returning from Afghanistan and Iraq. The group helps place veterans in the work force, provide resources for counseling and claiming health benefits.

According to their website, the Wounded Warrior Project has placed 226 veterans into employment positions during October 2011 and March 2012 with 84 percent remaining employed from October 2010 to September 2011. The project also obtained $4.68 million in annual benefit claims for individual veterans from October 2011 to March 2012.

Fleitz hopes local people will show up to support the military.

Chili Pots & Engine Blocks starts at 8 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 20, at the Kentucky Renaissance Fairgrounds in Eminence. Admission is free. Car show entries are $20 for the first/$10 for each additional entry.

Kentucky Chataqua actor Ethan Smith portrayed Orphan Brigade soldier Johnny Green Monday night for the Henry County Historical Society.

Smith's character was an actual Kentucky Confederate soldier who enlisted at 19. Green was born in Henderson, Ky.

Green joined the First Kentucky a division named so as the soldiers couldn't reenter Kentucky without the threat of being tried for treason.

Green wrote many accounts in his diary, which told of how the brigade did not return after 1862 until the war was over to Kentucky. The brigade most likely was not affectionately called the Orphan Brigade until much later depicting Kentucky's hesitation to openly

Just a little respect

Pleasureville business requests noise ordinance

BY JONNA SPELBRING PRIESTER
Publisher

According to one local funeral home, it's getting more and more difficult to have "dignified funerals," in part because of noisy neighbors.

Clyde Sholar, co-owner of Sholar Funeral Home in Pleasureville, approached the city commission recently to tackle what he sees as an increasingly noisy problem.

Whether it's loud music or barking dogs, Sholar said "people are not respecting when we have visitation and when we have funerals."

The funeral home went so far as to take neighbors to court, "because you could not hear the minister when we were having funerals because of dogs barking."

In 2011, he added, a band was performing nearby, making it difficult to hear. "You could not hear yourself talk inside the funeral home," Sholar said. In another instance, he said, he had to collect beer bottles from a church parking lot.

At the time, Sholar called the state police, who said there was little they could do because the city doesn't have a noise ordinance.

He asked that the commission consider such a rule.

"I don't know of a city that would allow a band to play right in the middle of a residential area, next to a funeral home," he said. "...I'm really concerned about the way things are going."

City Attorney Bill Brammell said there is a state statute that would, theoretically, prevent activity that would be disturbing to neighbors.

But that, Commissioner Dianne Perry said, isn't much help. "That is there, and it is in place, but it's very hard to get anyone to enforce it," she said.

Brammell said that an additional problem is noise ordinances are hard to enforce in part because of a simple question: what constitutes a band?

"Is one kid practicing the trombone a band, or two kids that get together and play a trombone and a saxophone?" he said. "Is it only a band if it's paid to come in?"

He added that the noise level itself can be difficult to define and measure. "Some cities have addressed this by getting a decimeter," to see if the noise making exceeds certain limits.

Flat tire makes for memorable trip

The season for moose and caribou hunting in the Interior of Alaska was about to end. On Wednesday night, neither my husband, Frank, nor I had a moose. I suggested we try hunting for caribou Thursday - something we had not yet tried. We secured the necessary permits and loaded our gear. We were all smiles and optimistic about our new venture.

After stopping for gas and a latte, we began the 200-mile journey to the caribou. It was a beautiful drive and we crossed some treacherous mountains en route. One mountain, Summit, lived up to its reputation with snow and ice on the road.

Not seeing any caribou, we descended the mountain range and continued towards the Yukon River expecting to see caribou any minute. If wishing were reality, I would have a freezer of caribou. Unfortunately, the caribou had already left the area!

There wasn't much to do except take a few pictures and head home. Daylight was disappearing and snow started falling.

Soon we had a flat tire. No big deal. Wrong! We discovered the spare was leaking air; we did not have any Fix-A-Flat, Frank had left the lug wrench with the boat, and the rim was already cracked on the flat tire. As if that wasn't enough, the temperature dropped sharply, we were without cell phone service and the road slush turned to ice, with snow falling rapidly.

We were in the middle of nowhere without fellow travelers. We decided to find a safe pull off. Once we started climbing again, we knew we couldn't stop or we would probably slide off the mountain!

We pulled back onto the road listening to the thump-thump of the remaining rubber on the tire. We limped along, and after, what seemed an eternity, we reached the top of Summit. We limped onward, then we slid; we limped, then slid some more; in this manner, we crossed the top of the mountain. Not a soothing ride.

Starting the descent of Summit, we had traveled perhaps two miles on the icy road when the thumping sound stopped. Frank wanted to assess the damages. Not a problem, but, then he said, "we don't have any brakes." I replied "use the emergency brake." Frank quietly says "we don't have the emergency brake either." We were picking up speed and had a steep drop and curve ahead. That's when I screamed "gear down!" Of course, Frank didn't need me to tell him; he was already doing it. But I definitely felt the need to scream!

We finally got stopped on the highway, but we were in a blind stop for approaching traffic in both directions. Nothing to do but wait until morning. We offered Gunner Puppy food and water, and covered ourselves with everything we had in the vehicle. Did I mention Frank had removed the emergency winter crate from my vehicle and forget to put it back?

It wasn't so bad. We had food, water, heat and gas. Our inside thermometer read 27F. The snow was coming to a halt, the sky was full of stars, and the Northern Lights made a brief appearance. We stood outside enjoying the wonders around us until we got chilled. Unable to sleep, we sat talking until 2 a.m.

Soon, the heater stopped working, leaving us without heat for 2.5 hours! Once Frank got the heater going again, we waited in comfort until transportation workers happened along at 6:30 a.m. with a satellite phone. After a quick phone call, we relaxed and waited for the tow truck to drive the 101 miles to collect us.

A series of mistakes created a memory not to be forgotten! Would I go caribou hunting again? Of course, but I am considering gifting Frank a case of Fix-A-Flat and a check list before any more hunting trips.

Ride For Roadie Poker Run/Benefit

I would like to thank this time to thank the following people.

Eric Goodrich & Karen Phillip's for getting the Poker Run together and having an awesome ride. To all the riders that came out and supported me, Connie Scriber for letting us have the event at Scriber's Station & all his workers. To all the people that came to the benefit after the Poker Run. To Affordable Signs for doing all of our shirts in such a short notice! To Connie Singleton for putting the event together.

To Lil' John the DJ for his great music!! All the businesses and people who made donations. To all my friends and family that helped put the event together. To my mother and sisters who have always been there for me. This has been a long road but with everyone lifting me up it has been a challenge that has made easier to bare. Last but not least to Jesus Christ that walks with me everyday through this journey.

Here's what we expect from Courtney Baxter

In the Sept. 27 edition of the Oldham Era, a candidate for Commonwealth Attorney ran an ad regarding local attorneys' support of Courtney Baxter for Commonwealth Attorney. The candidate asks, in his ad, "What do they expect to receive in return?" As past-president and 30-year member of the local bar association, the former head of the Public Defenders Office, contributing member of the committee that wrote the local rules for civil and criminal practice, and Courtney Baxter support, I can answer that question.

We expect: Competence. As the only prosecutor in this race, I expect her to bring the same level of professionalism to this job that she has brought to her long career, including her role as the assistant to the current Commonwealth Attorney. In every case, I expect her to know the law, which she does, and the fact. I expect her to follow her oath to fairly represent the victims of crime and to temper that with her overriding responsibility to make sure justice is done. No one who has regularly practiced with or against Mrs. Baxter doubts that this will be true.

BRAD BOWMAN/LOCAL

Compassion. Mrs. Baxter has represented the Commonwealth in some of the most challenging cases that face prosecutors — those involving sexual assault. I have seen first-hand the empathy she feels for those who have suffered as the result of a criminal act. At the same time, I have seen Mrs. Baxter take into account the real life situations that face all those involved in the criminal justice system. As a career prosecutor, Mrs. Baxter understands her role.

Connection with the local community: Mrs. Baxter has an office on Main Street in La Grange and goes there every day to work. She appears weekly in the Courts of this Judicial Circuit. She has ongoing relationships with local police agencies and has been endorsed by area sheriffs. She knows the courthouse personnel and is familiar with the local rules of practice. She is active in many local civic organizations. Her door is always open. Mrs. Baxter is a known quantity to the local bar, and for that reason, we support her.

Commitment. I have represented clients, in this county, against the last four elected felony court prosecutors — Bruce Hamilton, Bill Croley, Kim Snell and Barry Moore. One thing that each had was experience, in this county, as an assistant prior to seeking the awesome responsibility as chief prosecutor. The Office of Commonwealth Attorney is no place for on-the-job training. With each of the above, I knew that there would be no easy breaks. I knew that there would be no freebies. I knew that the success or failure of my case would depend on the facts of the case, the law and my skills as a litigator.

Nothing else mattered. Mrs. Baxter has followed that time-tested path, and I expect her to do so in the future. In addition, after long-standing Oldham County Attorney John Fendley's tragic and untimely death created a vacancy in that critical position, Mrs. Baxter put her life and career on hold and agreed to step in as appointed county attorney. We expect that type of commitment from our Commonwealth Attorney.

The desperate ad of her challenger unfairly maligns both Mrs. Baxter, for having the qualities that the residents of this county have the right to expect, and the local bar for supporting her in recognition of those qualities.

Perhaps if the challenger were a regular participant in the local criminal justice system, a member of the local bar association, or even a familiar face to most of its members, he would understand why we support Courtney Baxter.

parable equipment can get online now and they will see a greeting from us,” Chuck Hogg, President of Shelby Broadband said. “They will see it when they log on to their old service. We are comparable to DSL with several speed tier plans from 384, 000 kilobytes up to 5 megabytes. We look forward to being in the area.”

Shelby Broadband is one of the largest area broadband providers extending its coverage from Jefferson County to Cynthiana with approximately 3,000 customers. The company’s service area will extend just north of New Castle to Turners Station and east to Lacie Road.

The New Castle Commission agreed to refund any payments made by the former provider after deductions for money owed due to delinquent rent and fees were paid. According to several members of the commission, the relationship between Liberty Communications’ owner Vona Fuellhart and the city became strained after Fuellhart had made several late payments including bounced checks in the last year.

Sholar simply wants to know if there’s anything the city can do, like setting up a permitting process that might help curtail some of the noise.

“I’m not against people having a good time... but if any of your family is at our funeral home, I would not want that show of disrespect,” he said. “Last year, it was just atrocious.”

Brammell told the council a noise ordinance or permitting process is within their abilities, but that they would need to define the boundaries. The council took no immediate action on the matter.

Perry contended that forcing people to be respectful during a funeral was, perhaps, a losing battle.

“The only solution to that is then you can only have one permit in a public place,” she said. “You’re still going to step on some people’s toes here, because you’re going to have someone that wants to fight that. The noise, it’s not just your funeral home, it’s everywhere. It’s constant, and the lack of respect is constant.”

“This event will be a lot of fun. We will have the kitchen and bar open for people to buy food and drink. We will be giving all of our profits from the event straight to Wounded Warrior,” Fleitz said. “We won’t be making any money off of the event at all. Every single bit of our staff is volunteers, and the bands that are coming out: After Pulse, Overload and Rust n Bones are also 100 percent donating their time.”

The benefit Chili Pots and Engine Blocks Battle will begin on Oct. 20 at 8 a.m. at the Kentucky Renaissance Festival Grounds and end at 10 p.m. There will be a chili competition and a car/motorcycle show.

Fleitz emphasizes even the car show is about giving for a good cause.

“The car show is open to all cars. We have classes for the hot rods and custom cars all the way down to daily drivers and my favorite class ‘biggest piece of junk’,” Fleitz said. “It’s all about raising money for the Wounded Warrior Project not who has the best car.”

Fleitz asks for $20 donation for cars and motorcycles and additional $10 donation for a second vehicle.

support the confederacy.

In Smith’s monologue, he tells of how Gen.

Braxton Bragg made the fatal decision to order the brigade to charge at the Battle of Stone River into reinforcements hidden behind a hillside. The decision splintered respect between the Kentucky Confederate Gen. Breckinridge, also the 14th Vice President of the United States under James Buchanan, and Bragg.

Like most Confederate soldiers, the brigade did not possess the most modern equipment, fire arms or doctors. In Smith’s reenactment, he talks of how Green met a man who fashioned pikes and spears for soldiers who weren’t armed with guns.

Green settled in Louisville after the war. He married and had two children. Another child died soon after birth. He died in 1920 as director of the Louisville Title Company and the Columbia and Fidelity Trust Company.

KENTUCKY FARM BUREAU INSURANCE
BIG ON COMMITMENT.

Troxell receives Bell Award

BY BRAD BOWMAN
Reporter/Photographer

Polly Troxell will gladly bug anyone for a good cause, but can't stand getting awards even from a television station.

The WLKY Spirit of Louisville awarded Troxell and 10 other individuals who work as volunteers and give their time selflessly in the spirit of community service with the Bell Award.

WLKY presented the awards at a ceremony in the Galt House last Thursday and Troxell humbly admits she wishes they could've just mailed it to her.

"I was so surprised and nervous," Troxell said. "Anyone that knows me knows that I don't do well at public speaking. I made myself write down what I was going to say. I knew if I didn't when I got up there what comes into my mind just comes right out of my mouth and I didn't want that to happen."

Troxell works closely with senior citizens and anyone else she can help sign up for assistance with Medicare and Medicaid through the State Health Insurance Program. Troxell volunteers with Tri-County Community Action Agency, serves on Eminence City Council and sits on the Chamber of Commerce board. She also sits on the Aging Advisory Board at KIPDA for Henry County.

Troxell swears serving others has saved her life.

"I lost my husband two days after my first council meeting, two years ago I had breast cancer, and this year I lost my youngest child in February," Troxell said. "It is really strange that every year I have ran for city council something has happened. But being active has gotten me out of the house when I might've just sat here for a month and not done anything. It truly has saved my life."

Chamber of Commerce Director Pat Wallace called Troxell to tell her she had won the award.

"I knew my daughter must be pulling some strings in heaven. They called me on her birthday," Troxell said. "She loved ceremonies and awards and I don't. I just don't interview well. I still to this day don't know who submitted letters on my behalf, but Pat told me she would put everything together for me. It felt inspiring to go to the ceremony and hear about the things the other people had done. They did so much more than I had."

Troxell downplays the volunteer work she continues to do. She was a self-proclaimed advocate for the SHIP program seven years before the program had been created.

"I was watching this little minuscule House bill that finally passed," Troxell said. "In 1985, a disabled person wasn't allowed a supplement program for their insurance like they do now with Medicare. I called Humana first and told them they had to cover disabled people now and a man told me I had to be mistaken. They had lobbyists in Frankfort and they would know if the bill had passed. I told him he could come to my house and read it if he wanted to."

Troxell began calling every disabled person she knew.

"When you are disabled you don't have a job anymore and you live off a check," Troxell said. "It was important to me because I knew people that were sitting out there paying out enormous amounts of money for their healthcare with a little check. I didn't know it at the time, but I guess I had become an advocate."

Troxell would later hear about the SHIP program while playing Bunco with friends and that it would be a new program offered at Senior Center as of 1998. Troxell wasn't interested. She felt like she didn't have the time, but her daughter encouraged her to get out of the house and do it one day a week. It has turned into a full-time job that she loves.

"I love seeing the end result. If I can save someone money when they are spending so much on medical bills and I help them get to where they are paying $10 instead of $120 it's gratification," Troxell said. "They have more money for groceries and the things they need. I feel like I have accomplished something."

Troxell's love of service has roots in her childhood in WWII before public assistance existed.

"I think it goes back to my dad who was one of the four Ellis brothers that were drafted during the war," Troxell said. "Everyone in New Castle knew us and our family. Dr. Norvell would make sure that I got my medicine. I had tuberculosis when I was 12. Everyone looked out for each other. Even the storekeepers knew us. Granny would trade rations for sugar at the time. We knew when someone lost a family member in the war. The people of New Castle looked after us and I'll never forget that."

Troxell would later work with Henry County Judge-Executive John Logan Brent to secure the new Recreational and Services Park and Senior Center at the suggestion of grant writer Robert Moore. Troxell helped raise the funds, did any footwork if needed for paperwork. Two years, seven months and 20 days later Troxell was amazed at what they had accomplished.

"You can't just put an idea in my head and let it sit there," Troxell said. "I will be pushy about something if I think it is a good idea. I will just talk and talk and not stop till I see something happen."

Troxell serves an annual Kentucky Derby Eve Breakfast to raise proceeds that support senior activities. She also helped organize and repackaged food for the food truck that comes once a week to Henry County. Troxell saw the need, looked at how the food was distributed and did her best to make it better.

"People would come through there with a box in their hand and go down the line for us to fill it," Troxell said. "I thought it was so demeaning. I asked about the guidelines and found out we could change that."

Troxell gave everyone a number when they came in the morning for the truck. They would come back at 11 a.m. when she and other volunteers had unloaded the truck and put the food in individual boxes for them.

"They give us their number and they get a completed box," Troxell said. "We are always looking for boxes we can use and it is a great program from Dare to Care for people that are less fortunate. We do about 140 boxes by 1:00."

Troxell also helps with hot meals they deliver seniors on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays. She considers it important for people who may not otherwise receive a hot meal or see someone at all the entire day.

"I had no skills when I started doing a lot of this," Troxell said. "I didn't know how to use the computer, but I have worked my way through it. If you have just a couple of hours to give it can make all the difference. As a widow, I didn't want to sit in this house and dwell on the memories — it's not mentally good for you. If I can help someone I certainly will and if I can't I am very honest with them. We have another Bell Award winner, Mr. William Mason who is 95 and delivers 21 meals a day. He is very humble. You can do anything you want to do as long as you don't tell yourself you can't."

LOCAL STUDENTS OF THE WEEK

Campbellsburg
Elementary School
Kurtland Bishop

Kurtland is a 5th grader at Campbellsburg Elementary School.

Favorite subject?

Science and social studies. I like science just because of the curiosity of it, the cause and effect and that you can do experiments. I like chemistry and robotics.

Do you have pets?

2 cats: one black cat named Shadow and an orange cat named Rex. We don't know what breed they are.
1 dog: his name is Diesel and he is a pure white boxer

What do you do for fun?

I play fighting games like Halo on my Xbox and I also like to read. I read whatever comes to my appeal. I like fantasy. I just read Moon over Manifest. It is an older book in a different time based on real events. I liked it. It had a lot of detail.

What would like to do when you grow up?

I haven't decided yet but I have looked into engineering.

What kind of music do you like?

I play acoustic guitar. I like the feel of it. It is a unique instrument. I also listen to Christian Rock like Toby Mack.

Where would you like to travel?

We just got back from a trip to Tennessee and I really like it there it was fun. We went to places that had a lot of hilled view areas.

Eminence
Elementary School
Tiffany Baxter

Tiffany is an 4th grader at Eminence Elementary School

Favorite subject?

I like a lot of things. I love math, social studies and reading. Mrs. Ashby helps a lot. I also love karate and horse riding.

Do you have pets?

3 dogs, 7 to 9 cats, goats, sheep and horses.
Dogs: Bella, Jazzy and Buckles.
Cats: Bobtail ,Bear, Mittens, Black cat a.k.a. junkyard cat because that's where we found them, and Calico.
Horses: Fancy and Silky.
Cows: Dinner because we are saving her for meat. Daffodil-she likes flowers and Dora.
Goats- Deer ears, Gumby-I fed him a pack of gum when he was a baby, he ate it and wanted another pack.
If you could travel to any place, where would you go?
Mammoth Cave it's really fun. We stayed in a hotel for four days. We mostly went swimming it was really fun.

What's your favorite food?

Macaroni because it is cheesy and really good.

What kind of music do you like?

I like mostly country but I like playing Hot Cross Buns on the recorder.

What do you want to be when you grow up?

I want to be a cop because it is exciting and dangerous. I might also be a firefighter as they make almost $25,000 a year and that's a lot of money.

IT MAKES CENTS

Small businesses are a big deal

I would hope that most readers of the Local are aware, by now, of the debate raging in our community about the proposed CVS Pharmacy and its possible impacts. Many of us were not aware that such a thing was contemplated by city government, or that property owners had been approached to sell, until too late in the process to do much about it. Since then, many people have made their feelings known on the subject. This is a good and healthy thing, and I encourage more.

In the course of this debate, several points have been raised which outline the real issues at stake here, which are not "Should a CVS move to Eminence?" The questions we should be asking are what kind of community do we want to live in? And what can we do about it? How does a community answer these questions? Let's take a look at three of the most common statements regarding local growth versus outside development.

"We can't stand in the

LANCEminnis
VP, Commonwealth Financial Advisors

way of progress"

Why not? Who determines what "progress" is, anyway? Progress is defined as change through space and time. Change is something we accept, direct, and shape to our own purposes. So we determine what shape "progress" takes. True, it usually means the extinction of something unique, small, and home-grown for something larger, non-distinct, boilerplate and owned by outsiders. This is because communities give up, and hand their future to others, rather than exercising their own stake. Small operators who keep community equity, wages and proceeds at home, employees who stay close to home and increased social capital make way for generic large operators who take the equity away, who lower wages and send proceeds elsewhere. Employees who may need to travel to a different location or even to a different community since the big retailer puts several smaller local establishments out of business, and fewer non-profits and social capital associations such as churches, community organizations, and business groups. What we can't stand in the way of is "change." There is no doubt that changes are coming this way, but we can choose how they occur, when they occur, and in what fashion.

"As a city, there is nothing we can do about it"

Of course there is. This is, indeed, the very purpose of city councils, mayors, and planning and zoning commissions- to create the framework for the type of community that the residents desire. There are many towns across the United States, and the world, which have successfully resisted unwanted types of development. City councils can hold referendums, citizens can use the courts to block development, planning and zoning can create economic zones for different types of development, keeping unwanted types to specific areas on the periphery of the city, so the center remains a place of distinctiveness. Ordinances and planning and zoning can be used to prohibit certain sizes and types of structures from the city entirely. There are laws and regulations regarding historic properties preventing destruction or significant modification, or the creation of Historic Commissions to do the same. Building codes can be established to restrict certain types of structures. In fact, almost all these techniques are currently in use somewhere in Henry County and Eminence. And of course, as a last resort, the city has the right of eminent domain. All that is required is creativity, the desire to shape future growth in line with community values, and a proper fiduciary sense of duty.

"Main Street is empty... we need to do something"

Absolutely, we need to do something. Successful communities renovate their downtowns, refurbishing and repurposing existing structures, keeping the character of the place, so that residents and visitors find a unique welcoming place to live, work, dine, and shop. Tearing down the city center to install a generic big box is not what successful communities do, much less locating it right next door to the most successful local business in town which is its direct competitor. That strips the life from a town and gives the current and future economic wellbeing of the community into the hands of those who have no stake in it, who see its residents as cash to extract. Study after study, as well as the direct experience of dozens of towns, document that communities dominated by large national retailers suffer lower wages, lower tax receipts, lower rates of community service dollars, more traffic and longer and more commutes to and from the community, and higher unemployment, not to mention the indefinables like lack of community culture or civic life.

So what can we do? Here are some things other communities have done: Develop a "Buy Local" campaign. The Chamber of Commerce has the beginnings of this program in place, but it requires the unstinting support and constant reinforcement of city and county government, a listing of local businesses you can support including shops, restaurants, CSAs, farms, services, etc., possible subsidies to participating businesses who can then offer financial incentives to customers, and a public actively engaged in the program. Jobless rate falls in 98 counties

Unemployment rates fell in 98 Kentucky counties between August 2011 and August 2012, while 20 county rates increased and two stayed the same, according to the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training, an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

Oldham County recorded the lowest jobless rate in the Commonwealth at 6.5 percent. It was followed by Franklin, Scott and Union counties, 6.6 percent each; Fayette County, 6.7 percent; Boone and Jessamine counties, 6.8 percent each; Madison County, 6.9 percent; and Hancock, Ohio and Shelby counties, 7 percent each.

Fulton County recorded the state's highest unemployment rate — 16.7 percent. It was followed by Magoffin County, 16.6 percent; Harlan and Leslie counties, 14.3 percent each; Letcher County, 14 percent; Bell and McCreary counties, 13.8 percent each; Jackson County, 13.7 percent; Knott County, 13.2 percent; and Wolfe County, 13.1 percent.

REGIONAL UNEMPLOYMENT RATES
	Aug. 12	July 12	Aug. 11

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working. Civilian labor force statistics include non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks. The statistics in this news release are not seasonally adjusted to allow for comparisons between United States, state and county figures.

Fall doesn't mean a slow down in county activities

The air is certainly cooler, and before we know it, it will be time to "fall back" on our clocks (Nov. 4). The best thing about fall is the variety of opportunities for festivals and events. It also brings news of new businesses and personnel.

Angela Perry has joined Brenda's Beauty and Tanning Salon in Eminence. She is a graduate of PJ's Cosmetology School in Crestwood. She specializes in long hair and updos as well as men's and women's cuts, color highlights and lowlights, perms, manicures including gel nails and also does make-up for special occasions. She can be reached at 845-7206.

A new business in Campbellsburg, HK Carr and Associates, will be having its grand opening with ribbon cutting and open house Oct. 19-20. They are located on Main Street just past Dollar General

PATwallace
Henry County Chamber of Commerce

(formerly Dr. Gatewood's office). They specialize in emergency response safety and compliance training. Stop by and welcome them to Henry County. They can be reached at 1 (877) 368-8842.

Chili Pots and Engine Blocks Battle is Oct. 20 at the Renaissance Faire grounds on Oct. 20, with a car and motorcycle show and free admission. The show registration is $20 single and $10 for second entry. Chili competition registration is $10 and $5. Registration is from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the front gate. Live music featuring Overload in concert and a cornhole contest are part of the activities. This is a benefit for the Wounded Warrior Project, and the Chamber has registration forms.

There are several Halloween events in the county. Drs. Gatewood and Jett are having an All Hallows Read from 5:30 to 7 p.m. Oct. 25, at 58 Citation Lane in Campbellsburg. Donations of books for ages 6 months to 5 years are needed as well as items to give away, businesses or individuals to decorate and staff a trunk, or donate books or cash to purchase age related books. This is a Reach Out and Read. Call (502) 532-7341 for more information.

Homestead Nursing Center's Fall Festival is from 5 to 8 p.m., Friday, Oct. 26. If you would like to donate a cake for the cakewalk, please drop it off at Homestead on Thursday, Oct. 25. This is their main fundraiser for their activity fund for the residents and always a good time.

The Eminence Halloween event at the Renaissance Fairegrounds is 6 to 8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 27, and the haunted forest hours are from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Booths, candy, storytelling, music, costume contest and lots more are part of this traditional Halloween event. Merchants are welcome to come hand out Halloween goodies.

Don't forget to attend the Extension Holiday Bazaar Nov. 10 at the 4-H Building at the fairgrounds. This is a fabulous way to finish (or begin) your Christmas shopping without worries of finding parking, buying too expensive gas, and you will have a selection to please your entire gift list. It is from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and lunch is available from the Henry Co. senior Citizens.

At 2:30 p.m. Nov. 25, you are cordially invited to the Henry County Pride in the Arts at the Eminence Christian Church. Often people do not realize what wonderful talents are found in our residents, and this event makes us aware of the many hidden resources we have. There will be music by Alice Newman, John Ball, Tanya Berry and Wayne Sparrow; vocal performances by Mark Hughes, The Faithful Eight, Eminence Baptist Church Choir, the Powell Family, James Simpson and Mary Harris Beasley (sister of Jesse Harris); violin performance by Katie Ruble Smith, and a Christmas theme presentation by Earl "Hammer" Smith, J.T. Stinson, Martha Hall and John Logan Brent. There will be a tete-a-tete after the program for all to visit with the performers and enjoy refreshments. Martha Tarry Simpson, with her very capable helpers Wayne Sparrow and Martha Hall, brings this presentation to life with her gracious charm and warmth. The last event two years ago filled the church, and this year's program will get you ready for the holidays as well as give you a new appreciation of the many and varied talents in our communities.

On Dec. 1, Sweet Home Spun Low Dutch Meeting House will have a holiday open house from 10-4. Gifts from the Farm is the theme of the day, and if you have never visited this beautiful place on U.S. 421 at the edge of Pleasureville, you are missing a great attraction.

If you have events or news from your business to share, please call the office at 845-0806.

Plant bulbs now for spring blooms

Fall is the time to think about all those flowers we associate with spring: daffodils, crocus and other easy-to-grow flowering bulbs. If you aren't growing any spring-flowering bulbs in your landscape, you are missing out on some easy-to-grow plants that provide early color to your garden.

These bulbs are planted in fall because it corresponds to the end of their natural dormancy. Most of these plants begin root growth in fall, followed by a cool stratification period necessary for proper flower development and then shoot growth in late winter and early spring.

No matter which bulbs you select, remember that the largest bulbs will produce the greatest show next spring. However, smaller bulbs will still produce some flowers, and these may be the best choice for mass planting or naturalizing. Avoid any bulbs that feel lightweight as these may have severely dried during storage.

It's important to plant flowering bulbs at the proper depth, so inquire about plant depth at the nursery or follow the label directions. Most bulbs do not need fertilization until growth emerges in the spring. When you see plants emerging, apply one to two pounds per 100 square feet of a complete fertilizer (like 10-10-10).

Once flowering occurs, remove the faded blooms, but don't remove the foliage.

The leaves produce sugars and other compounds necessary for the bulb to overwinter and bloom again the next spring. Most bulbs will enter dormancy in late spring or early summer and will renew growth, starting with the root system in the fall.

Effects of freeze on forages

Recent cold temperatures have prompted some questions about frosted/frozen forages. While light frosts make JohnsonGrass and related sorghum family plants toxic with Prussic Acid, a killing freeze can be a good thing. Once Johnsongrass is dry, either from cutting for hay or because it has been completely killed by frost, it is safe again.

A few other commonly used forages, including alfalfa, are affected by freeze that may affect best management strategies. Although frost damaged alfalfa is not toxic, it is important to be cautious when grazing alfalfa after a hard freeze (less than 25F). After a freeze, the threat of bloat slightly increases for a few days. Once the plant starts growing again, bloat is less likely. Waiting a few days after a freeze can be a good practice to decrease risk of bloat when grazing alfalfa. Continue to use recommended practices to reduce the potential for bloat. If forage is needed and you plan to cut the alfalfa for hay, it is suggested to wait to cut until the first hard freeze or until early to mid-November (even without a freeze there is very little regrowth after this date).

While frosts significantly reduce forage quality in most forage species, Tall fescue is unique because it almost seems to get better. The quality loss from leaf deterioration is lower compared to other cool-season forages, and after experiencing a freeze, sugar content increases. This makes tall fescue ideal for stockpiling and winter grazing use.

Antioxidants are natural cancer fighters

Antioxidants are substances found in food. They may help block damage to cells in the body caused by free radicals. Free radicals are substances formed during normal body processes. If not blocked, free radicals may contribute to the development of certain diseases, including cancer and heart disease.

Antioxidants are found mainly in fruits and vegetables. The most important antioxidants are vitamin C, vitamin E, and carotenoids, including beta carotene. Vitamin C is thought to reduce the risk for cataracts, some cancers, and cardiovascular disease. Vitamin E may help prevent cardiovascular disease. Carotenoids from a variety of fruits and vegetables may protect against some cancers, cardiovascular disease, and cataracts. Other antioxidants include lycopene and lutein.

Many people take supplements containing antioxidants, but research at the American Heart Association indicates that foods are the Foods We Should Probably Eat More Of!

Stuck in a food rut? You don't have to go far to find some overlooked food choices that are easy to prepare, pack a nutritional wallop, and avoid unhealthy fats.

Avocado

Sure, it's great in guacamole. But why not try chopping it into chunks for a super salad topper? Or next time you make a sandwich, add thin avocado slices for a superfood treat. Avocado offers: heart-healthy, monounsaturated fat, Vitamins A and E, B vitamins, potassium, copper

Sweet potato

Frost cubes of these terrific fat-free tubers with chunks of carrot and apple. Drizzle with olive oil, season to taste and pop in the oven until golden brown. Sweet potatoes provide: Five times your daily dose of vitamin A, vitamin C, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, iron and fiber

Soybeans

Soybeans show up in lactose-free milk substitutes as well as stir-fry favorites, tempeh and tofu. The beans themselves taste wonderful roasted and salted in the pods, steamed as a side dish, or chilled on salads. Soybeans serve up: 40 percent of your daily protein intake in one cup, fiber, calcium, potassium, iron, phosphorus and magnesium.

Dried figs

Tasty as fig cookies are, figs stand on their own. Sneak these sweet snacks into casseroles. Replace raisins in a salad. Or just pop a few in your mouth. Figs are full of: fiber, potassium, calcium, iron and B vitamins.

Lentils

Try lentils tossed with rice or baked in a casserole. Or seek out spicy, spreadable lentil dips at ethnic food stores and eclectic supermarkets. Lentils are loaded with: 40 percent of your daily protein intake in one cup, 65 percent of your daily fiber dose in one cup, potassium, calcium, iron, B vitamins, phosphorus and copper.

Kale

More robust and chewy than the ever popular spinach, dark and leafy kale is perfect for steaming. Top with diced sautéed garlic, sesame seeds and a splash of soy sauce. Or try making some Kale chips! Kale packs a punch with: Twice your daily intake of vitamin A in one cup (cooked), vitamin C, small amount of B vitamins, calcium and iron.

Barley

Super in soups and smashing in casseroles, barley makes a dazzling addition to any meal. Try pearled barley as a rice substitute, or boil to create a unique stir-fry base. Barley boosts your healthy eating habits with: protein, 25 percent of your daily fiber needs in one cup, potassium, phosphorus and iron.

Each of these foods provides an opportunity for new tastes and added nutrition. Give them a try!

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability, or national origin.

to penalize those who allow their property to fall into disrepair. Use eminent domain to purchase vacant buildings from delinquent owners, then develop and lease them as a source of city revenue or sell them to entrepreneurs/developers with provisos and ordinances as to how the buildings must be maintained. Create a city owned entrepreneurial business incubator. Offer community wide Wi-Fi to encourage home based and service companies. Work with the two local school districts to encourage entrepreneurial students to stay local at graduation. Work with existing businesses to facilitate expansion. Funding can come from a variety of sources. Build a shopping center on unimproved land outside city center for national chains then use the tax revenue to renovate downtown. Obviously the best way is by encouraging new small business from local talent... the more businesses, the higher the tax revenues. Seek public/private partnerships, investors that will work with the community to build business for a share of the equity and profits.

Raise a bond offering. Seek economic development funds from State and Federal government. Many of these techniques are being used in communities all around us, from La Grange to Midway to Louisville.

The bottom line is, we citizens of Henry County have choices, and we have a say, in the future of our community. We need to ask more of ourselves, to think more about how we want to live. As I was told by a resident yesterday, we choose to live here, not Shelbyville, or Lexington, because we like it here... the pace, the friendliness, the small town feel. If these are valuable, then there are ways to keep them, even while we accept and direct future change. If you are

HCHS GIRLS' SOCCER - 8TH REGION SOCCER TOURNAMENT

It's deja vu all over again for Lady Cats

Cats lose in O.T. in district finals; Fall to Anderson in 8th region tourney

It was déjà vu all over again for the Lady Cats.

Henry County's Izzy Miller tries to find her way through the Anderson defense.

In the first round of the 31st District soccer tournament, Henry County's girls' soccer team beat Carroll County on penalty kicks, a performance nearly identical to an early season match-up between the two.

Then, last week, it happened again against Owen County.

The Lady Rebels once again came from behind to defeat the Lady Cats 3-2 in double overtime with just 3:00 remaining before a penalty kick shootout would have decided the game.

This time the game-winning goal came from Amber Gover on a pass from Ashley Byers who had broken the Cats' hearts earlier in the season with the winning goal.

Byers had possession in traffic deep in Henry County territory and managed to find Gover who was about 15 yards in front of goal. Gover struck the ball with one touch and sent it into the top left corner of the goal. Goalkeeper Sophie Hughes, who came up big all night, had

Yellowjackets' swarm Cats in second half

Henry held No. 2 team in Class 3A to 7 first-half points

BY GREG WOODS

The Henry County football team hosted the Central Yellowjackets — ranked No. 2 in Class 3A — Friday night and gave the athletic team fits during a first half in which they played almost perfectly.

The Wildcats came in with a ball control, run it for “three yards and a cloud of dust” philosophy on offense and a “stop the run and beat us with the pass” defensive scheme that worked for most of the first half.

Offensively the Cats' linemen were able to push the Central defense off the line of scrimmage and the Wildcat running tandem of Brandon Valentine and Cody Tindle were able to get 3-, 4- and 5-yard chunks on the Yellowjackets.

But the Cats could not sustain a drive beyond two or three first downs.

On defense, the Cats gave up a long run on Central's first play from scrimmage and then buckled down and contained their speedy backs for most of the first half. Central finally pierced the Wildcat goal line on a 10-yard option play with 3:30 to go in the first half.

Central had two more scoring opportunities late in the first half that were snuffed out by Jared Yount, who intercepted two long attempts into the end zone: one at 1:40 to go and one as time expired.

The Yellowjackets' athleticism coupled with some defensive breakdowns changed the game in the second half.

“In the second half they got us on a couple of big plays,” Coach Jason Spencer said. “At 21-0, we had a Fall to Carroll in district final; Shelby in regional

BY GREG WOODS

The Henry County Lady Cats volleyball team shook off a season ending losing streak to play some of their best volleyball of the season downing the Owen County

Lady Rebels 3-1 last week in the 31st District tournament at Carroll County.

That set up a tournament championship match against the tournament hosts. But the Lady Panthers would not be denied the tournament championship, and bested the Lady Cats 3-0, in closely contested games.

The Owen County win also gave Henry County a berth in the 8th Region tournament, where they faced Shelby County. The Lady Rockets, however, shut the door on Henry County's season Monday night with a 3-0 first-round win.

Buzzer beater goes to Paris

Warriors fall to Paris on last second TD

Early in the second half of their game against Paris, the Eminence Warriors were down 22-0.

Then Eminence outpaced Paris 38-26. But a buzzer-beating touch-down pass foiled the Warriors, and Paris won the game 42-38.

Eminence took the lead in the game late on Brandon Mitchell's third touchdown reception of the night with 1:01 left in the game.

After Mitchell's reception, the Greyhounds took possession near midfield and after a long pass completion, nearly blew the opportunity to win the game. A pass attempt ended with a penalty on the Greyhounds, but Paris kept digging and finally made it to the Warriors' 9-yard line.

On the final play of the game, the Greyhounds scored on a pass play in which the receiver came wide open as the final second ticked off the clock.

The high octane second half was a direct contrast to the first, where neither team had much luck finding the end zone until Paris broke through with 6:05 remaining on a 45-yard run. The conversion run succeeded, and Paris led 8-0.

On their next possession, the Greyhounds marched down the field on a long drive and scored from 5

Warriors beat Gallatin, fall to Carroll in 31st district tourney

BY GREG WOODS

In the fourth game between Eminence and Carroll County in last week's 31st District Tournament, it seemed as though the Warriors were headed for a district championship match.

But their hopes were dashed. Carroll County fought back from a 2-0 deficit to defeat the Warriors 16-25, 22-25, 25-20, 26-24, 15-10.

The deciding run came with Eminence leading the fourth game 24-21 and their best server, Emily Coomes going back to serve. A hitting mistake by the Warriors gave the serve back to the Panthers, and libero Megan Harris served four straight aces to give the game, and momentum, to Carroll County. From there the Panthers dominated the fifth and final game, winning 15-10.

When the match opened the Warriors played some of their best volleyball of the season.

They won decisively the night before against the Gallatin County Wildcats, and the Warriors were confident and focused while Carroll County appeared to be suffering from opening round jitters.

EHS opened a 9-4 lead to open the game with good digs against Carroll's athletic hitters. The Panthers yards out with 2:14 to go in the half. Paris ran in the conversion again to go into halftime leading 16-0.

The Warrior faithful got a scare at halftime as lineman Cory Roberts was taken off the field on a stretcher and taken by EMS to the hospital. Coach Steve Frommeyer later reported that the injury was a medium-grade concussion with no other injury involved. While Roberts is in doubt for the next game, he should be cleared to play in the finale against Clinton County, barring any setbacks. “It was his first and hopefully last, concussion so he should recover fairly quickly,” Frommeyer said.

When play resumed it seemed that the halftime scene affected the Warriors. The Greyhounds took the kickoff return for a touchdown to go up 22-0.

The Warriors quickly recovered and began their comeback.

Justin Mitchell hit Brandon Mitchell for a 20-yard touchdown pass with 9:30 remaining to narrow the gap to 16 points.

Shelby Armstrong then picked off a Greyhound pass and returned about 50 yards for the second Warrior touchdown in less than two minutes. With 7:56 to go in the third quarter, the Warriors had closed the gap to 10 points.

Paris stretched it back to 16 points with a 6-yard TD run at 6:59.

Justin Mitchell then hooked up with DeMarcus Bailey with 1:59 remaining in the quarter to make it 28-18.

Daishon Moore scooped up a Paris fumble and ran the ball 35 yards into the end zone with 44 seconds to go in the third. Mitchell found Jalen Dixie in the end zone on the 2-point conversion to make it 28-26 going into the 4th quarter.

But Paris fought right back and scored on a 24-yard run at the 10:43 mark and added two points on a conversion run to make the score 36-26.

Eminence failed to score on their next possession and Paris worked the inside running game to try and eat up clock. It seemed to work as the Warriors did not get another chance at the end zone until four minutes remained in the game.

The Warriors calmly and efficiently drove down field before Justin Mitchell found his brother Brandon down field, where Brandon eluded tacklers to find the end zone. The play covered 18 yards. The conversion run was no good and left the Warriors trailing by 4 points with just under two minutes remaining.

On the ensuing kickoff, it was clear that Warriors would try an onside kick. Paris sent their “hands” team onto the field to try and prevent a Warrior recovery but they failed as the Warriors recovered the kick and were back in business near midfield.

After a couple of short pass plays moved the Warriors into position the Mitchell-to-Mitchell connection clicked again as Brandon took a short pass and weaved his way through defenders to find the end zone once more. The pass play covered 22 yards and gave the Warriors their first lead of the game at 38-36.

But the possession took just 46 seconds off the clock, and Paris went on to their own heroic drive to break the hearts of the Warriors and their fans.

Frommeyer said the defense was left short-handed on the closing drive.

“We have dealt with the same issue we always do with our numbers,” he said. “We had guys dropping like flies with injuries and on the last drive we had three guys playing out of position on defense because of the injuries.”

Frommeyer thought special teams hurt and helped his team in different phases of the game. “They had two long kickoff returns, which really hurt us,” he said, “But we had an important onside kick recovery and Brandon and DeMarcus did a great job punting and pinning them back to get us good field position.”

Frommeyer was disappointed with the loss but not with his team’s second half effort. “I was really pleased with the way we came back in the second half,” he said. “It was our biggest comeback in a long time. It was a lot like the Oyler game. If you take out one of four or five really bad plays we win the game.”

scoring opportunity that we did not take advantage of and that really hurt us. It was a chance to gain some momentum.”

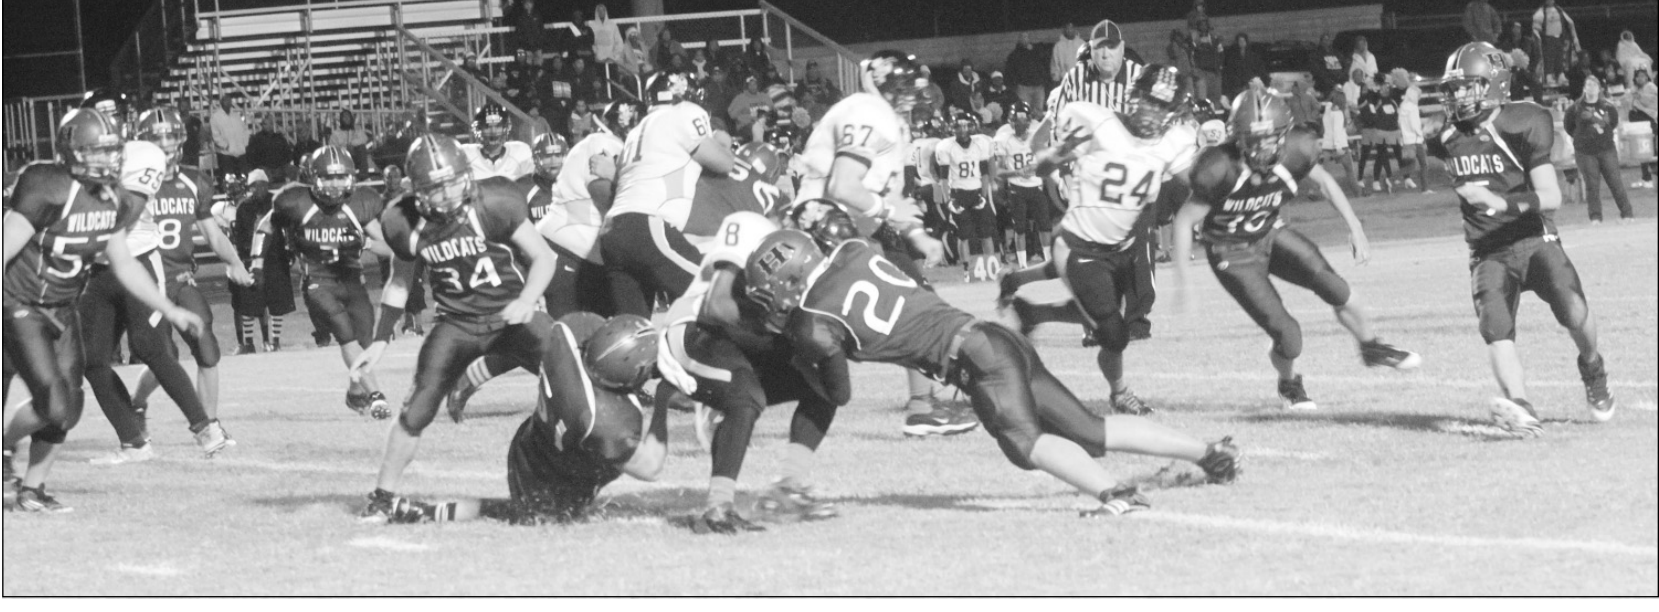

After the missed opportunity the Yellowjackets were able to tack on two more scores to make the score somewhat deceiving.

Spencer was upbeat about his team’s performance coming off a disappointing effort against LaRue County. “The kids played outstanding on both sides of the ball,” he said. “The offense moved the football up and down the field. We just couldn’t get a breakthrough.”

“35-0 is a little misleading. We are heading in the right direction right now. A couple of big plays really hurt us.”

With Mason Fish out due to injury, Spencer was pleased with his replacements. “Brandon Valentine and Cody Tindle ran extremely hard,” he said. “Brandon is a load to bring down.”

Spencer also singled out senior linebacker Nick Magness for praise. “Nick Magness played an exceptional game,” he said. “He was all over the field. Defensively our whole team played well.”

The coach is looking forward to Friday night’s matchup with Elizabethtown. The Elizabethtown game is the last district game and could be an important factor in the Cats’ postseason play. A 1-2 district record would mean the Cats would face a No. 2 seed instead of a No. 1 seed in the playoffs.

He said, “We have to go to E-town and have an even better effort than against Central. They are athletic and we have to go down there and take care of business.”

...out to stop the run and it worked briefly as they got a kill to make it 14-10.

But Megan Peyton got a kill on the next point and Henry County rattled off another 4-0 run to make it 20-10. Owen slowly worked their way back into the game but at 24-21 they were called for a lift and Henry County took the first game.

In the second game, the Lady Rebels recovered and after trailing 6-3 went on a 7-0 run to go ahead 10-6. Coach Katie Ruff called timeout to stop the momentum and it worked — Owen served out on the next play.

But the Lady Rebels quickly recovered and stretched the lead out to 22-14. At 23-16 Kim Barmore got a kill to cut the lead to 6, but Owen's lead proved too big to overcome and they took the second game, 25-18.

Game 3 was close until Krista Deburger got a tip, Peyton a kill and Deburger another kill to put Henry up 13-9. Owen called timeout and on the next point they recovered the serve on a hit covered by Henry County.

Owen closed to 16-14, but two hitting mistakes by Owen sandwiched around a kill by Peyton gave the Cats a 19-14 lead and forced Owen into another timeout. The game stayed between a four to six point margin the rest of the game until Owen served into the net on game point to give Henry the 25-20 win.

In what turned out to be the decisive fourth game, Henry fell behind 10-4, but fought back after the margin stayed at five or six points for some time. At 17-12 Henry creaked off 3 points on two hitting mistakes by Owen and a Peyton kill.

At 20-18 in favor of Owen, Paige Deburger got a kill to narrow the gap to one point. After another hitting error by Owen tied the score at 21, the Lady Rebels called timeout and came back with two points on a hitting error by Henry and a kill by Owen.

Henry called timeout and Krista Deburger got a kill after the break to give momentum back to Henry County. With Molly Williamson serving the Cats got a break on a hitting mistake by the Lady Rebels and Peyton's kill put the Cats up 24-23. Owen came back with a kill of their own to make it 24 all.

Peyton got another kill and Savannah Allgeier went back to serve with the game on the line. On the final play of the night Paige Deburger got the kill to give Henry County the 26-24 comeback win and the match.

Coach Katie Ruff was pleased with her teams' effort and felt that focus was the key to the victory. "The girls really wanted to win the game and it showed," she said. "We worked really hard on some strategies on Monday and Tuesday at practice and went out and executed them well. I also think that we fought a hard battle and never gave up. That is something new for us and it paid off!"

Ruff felt several players stood out as having exceptional games. "I think Savannah (Allgeier) did a great job setting," she said. "She has been working really hard the last couple of weeks and it showed last night. I also think Megan (Peyton) did a nice job of remaining focused no matter what the score was. Paige (Deburger) had some great hits and dug up a lot of tips. Before the match Krista (Deburger) told them to play like it was

In the district championship game, the Lady Cats found themselves down in every game and trying to fight back But they came up short losing the three-game match by scores of 25-20, 25-23, 25-20.

"We started out the first game a little slow and flustered," Ruff said. "We seemed to be playing not to lose. I called timeout to try and calm the girls' nerves and it seemed to work for a while but then we went back to flustered and nervous again. The second and third games were pretty much the same. We just kept trying to come back and we would make great comebacks but we were never really able to gain the lead or control."

In this match, Reff said fundamentals hurt the team. "Our passing was pretty bad," she said. "I think the team played not to lose and that really hurts us. Against Owen I saw a team that was there to win, and I am not sure where that team went against Carroll. I hate to say we are young, but I think that had a lot to do with the nerves and playing not to lose. We just don't have experience."

HCHS 0, Shelby 3

In the first round of regional play the Lady Cats took on the host Rockets and fell to the much improved team 25-10, 25-18, 25-19. The young Lady Cats ended their season with a record of 7-26 while Shelby moves on to challenge 15th ranked North Oldham in the regional semi-finals. The Rockets' record stands at 19-6 after winning 15 of their last 16 matches.

Though the score of the first game seems lopsided the Cats got off to a fast start. "The first 7 points of the game were the best we have played since the Owen game," Ruff said. "We were hustling, had some great passes and hits. From there the girls tensed up. It was kind of like they didn't think they were supposed to win. We ended up pretty down in the first game."

The Cats rebounded and played tough in the second and third games, according to Ruff. "The second and third games started off the same, but we were able to come back and fight a little. It just wasn't enough to beat them."

Senior Savannah Allgeier helped to rally the Cats in games 2 and 3. Ruff said, "Savannah really hustled and brought us back with some great serves."

Ruff is already looking forward to next season when her young squad will be more experienced.

"I am proud of the team this year," she said. "They went farther than anyone expected and, in general, I saw improvements. I am proud of the seniors and I want them to know how much they will be missed. Looking ahead, I am hopeful and ready for the 2013 season!"

...no chance to make the save.

The host Lady Rebels started strong on the night and forced Hughes into a save in the first minute of the game. They again had an excellent chance in the 7th minute but missed from 5 yards in front of goal.

Izzy Miller had the first chance for the Cats in the 9th minute when she took a shot from about 15 yards out, but the Owen goalkeeper saved the shot.

Owen got the first goal of the game in the 11th minute from 10 yards out by Morgan Walker. Owen made two nice passes up field before Walker received the ball and out-traced the defenders to get an open shot from about 10 yards out. Hughes did not have much chance to save the shot.

Rachel Vegh answered for the Cats three minutes later as she took a long clearance from Hughes and got behind the defense for a goal from about 12 yards out.

Hughes was forced into another save just two minutes later and then the Cats got more possession time, playing in Owen's half of the field.

Vegh had another breakaway chance in the 22nd minute but a good hard tackle by the Rebels defender snuffed it out.

In the 27th minute, Vegh struck again with a heads up play that gave the Lady Cats the lead.

On yet another breakaway chance the Owen defense committed a hand-ball foul just outside the penalty box. Vegh quickly grabbed the ball and placed it down before the Owen defense could set up. The Rebels' goalkeeper was caught off guard and Vegh struck the ball into the back of the net. The Lady Rebels were stunned as Henry County celebrated the goal.

Owen threatened twice more before halftime. In the 30th minute Hughes made another save on a hard shot from 15 yards out and in the 37th minute the Cats got lucky when a wide open shot from 5 yards out hit the post and bounced back into the field of play to be cleared by Hollie Jameson.

The Lady Rebels attacked relentlessly — looking for the tying goal — and dominated the second half.

In the first minute of the second half disaster nearly hit the Cats. Jessica Holcomb was called for a hand-ball when the ball bounced up and struck her arm in the penalty box. But Hughes came up big on the penalty kick with a diving save to her left to keep the Cats in front.

The Lady Rebels finally broke down the Cats' defense in the 18th minute of the second half on a corner kick. The corner was high and near the goal and Hughes was able to get her hands on it but the ball bounced off her hands and a charging Walker headed it home to tie the game.

That set up the heart-breaking game-winner by Gover to end the Cats' dream of a district championship.

"I feel the girls played one of their best games of the season," Coach Brandie Stivers said.

"They knew that the district championship was on the line and they gave it everything they had. I am very proud of the game that these girls played."

"I think fatigue was the biggest contributing factor to Owen's comeback. Our girls had just played 87 minutes of non-stop running, with only a couple of subs, Owen caught them in a weak moment and was able to take full advantage."

Stivers was impressed with the play of her striker and midfielder in this game. "Izzy Miller was able to lock down the middle, you know she's a threat when the other coaches are yelling at their players to shut her down," she said. "Also, another big threat to the competition was Rachel Vegh; she did a phenomenal job at the front line and with some quick thinking was able to catch their goalie when she was not paying attention."

Stivers also felt that her goalkeeper gave the team a chance to win. "Sophie Hughes again stepped up her game in the goal box, with her quick thinking and ability to get hands on the ball. She played a great game and was key in helping keep the Owen County score down. I have to say all the girls on the team played their hearts out. It was a great game to coach and an even better one to watch. The girls came together and played as a team. It was very inspiring to watch."

HCHS 0 Anderson 8

"Bigger, faster, stronger, higher caliber."

That's how Coach Brandie Stivers summed up the Lady Cats game with Anderson County in the first round of the 8th Region girls soccer tournament Monday night.

The Lady Bearcats built an early 4-0 lead and cruised to the 8-0 victory over a young Lady Cats squad that featured a starting lineup with eight or nine freshmen for most of the season.

The Lady Bearcats scored in the second and fourth minutes of the game. They tallied their third goal just 12 minutes in and added another in the 20th minute.

The Lady Cats, who appeared nervous and a step slow in the opening part of the game, played better and held Anderson scoreless over the final 20 minutes of the first half.

Anderson scored again in the 9th minute of the 2nd half and added three more goals before the final whistle blew. Hughes had seven more saves after half time to keep the score from being worse.

"Tonight we came out flat against a bigger, faster, stronger and higher caliber team," Stivers said. "They had depth that hurt us late. We held them in the middle part of the game. But they spread the field and pass the ball really well."

"Over the season the girls have learned a lot. We've come a long way but we have a long way to go. When you play a team of this caliber you find out your deficiencies. This is a great learning experience for our team."

also made several hitting and serving mistakes as the Warriors won point after point on long rallies.

At 13-7, Eminence got a kill from Destiny Dale to start a 4-0 run. Madison Pittman added two aces to the run and after a lift was called on Carroll County, they called timeout trailing 17-7. The timeout worked momentarily for the Panthers as they got a kill and an ace, but a net serve stopped the run and Eminence stretched the lead back to 10 on a kill by Coomes and a hitting mistake by Carroll.

At 21-12, Carroll got three straight aces to close the gap to six points but another hitting error stopped the comeback. At 24-16, Eminence got the game point on a kill by Brie Prewitt.

The second game was close the entire way as both teams played very well and several long rallies ended with what seemed to be decisive momentum changes. But neither team would give in and continued to come up with big rally stoppers.

The decisive play may have come with EHS leading 21-19. After one of the longest rallies of the match — in which the Warriors dug several kill attempts by the Panthers — Carroll finally cracked and hit the ball out. At 24-22 in favor of Eminence Gailynn Carroll got a tip to win the game.

The second game loss could have been devastating for the Panthers as they seemed to throw everything at the Warriors.

But the Panthers showed fortitude in fighting back to win the third game. The Warriors trailed early at 6-3 but closed it back to an 8-8 tie before Carroll stretched the lead back to 3 at 12-9. Then, Pittman hit a dig shot that went over the net and fell for a point for the Warriors. Prewitt and Coomes had kills to tie the game at 12-12.

Carroll called timeout, but coming out of the timeout the Panthers had two more hitting mistakes to fall behind 14-12 before a kill stopped the Warrior run.

The Warriors maintained a small lead until at 17-15; Tiffany Thomas had a kill after a long rally to put the Warriors up by 3. The play seemed to be a match killer as the Panthers were briefly deflated by losing yet another long rally. But the Panthers had no quit in them and regained the serve at 19-16 in favor of Eminence. The Panthers reeled off a 6-point run that gave them the lead 22-19. A Dale kill stopped the run but Carroll County had a stuff block on the next play and then served out the game for the 25-20 win.

After trailing briefly in the opening moments of the fourth game, the Warriors gained the lead at 5-4 and held a small lead until the final serving display by Harris gave the game to the Panthers.

The stunned Warriors were never able to regain momentum in the fifth game, and Carroll cruised to the 15-10 win to advance the championship match of the 31st District tournament.

It was a bitter end to an otherwise good season for the Warriors who closed with a 16-7 record on the year and gained a lot of respect from coaches and players around the 8th Region.

After the match, Coach Stephanie Barrows was disappointed, but upbeat. "I thought the girls thought they had it and stopped playing their hardest," she said. "I think we made a few mistakes and couldn't get past them. It killed our momentum."

Despite the loss, the Warriors completed most of their goals.

"They finished 16-7 which is the best season here since the 2004-2005 season," Barrows said. "These girls have worked hard and I can't wait to see what they do next year!"

In one of their most complete performances of the season the Warriors defeated Gallatin County in the first round of the district tournament in straight games, 25-13, 25-9 and 25-13.

"The girls played very well," Barrows said. "They came in very determined and wanting to achieve success!"

Thomas and her outside hitting mates were too much for the Wildcats to handle according to Barrows. "I would say that

Tiffany played extremely well at the net," she said. "Gailynn did a great job setting everyone on the court up. Brie and Destiny did an awesome job hitting outside and getting all over the court!

"The team played together. We played together as a team and executed every play!"

Golden finishes 3rd, Buckler 8th in NCKC championships

A pair of cousins on the Henry County cross country team are carrying on the family tradition.

At the NCKC Championships on Oct. 9, eighth grader Lilly Golden finished 3rd in the girls' 5k race. Her cousin, junior Cathryn Fischer, finished 11th.

Seventh grader Katherine Buckler finished 8th, giving the girls team three all-conference finishers.

Golden's mother, and Fischer's aunt, Sarah Fischer Golden was a top runner for the Wildcats in the 1990s. Golden's cousin, and Cathryn Fischer's sister, Cassie was one of the top runners in the state for the Cats for several years prior to her graduation this year.

Golden has been running a mixture of middle school and varsity races over the last two years, and last Tuesday's event was just her 7th 5k-varsity race. Buckler was making only her fourth appearance as a varsity runner.

In the boys' race, John Bates showed marked improvement as he lowered his personal record for a third consecutive meet. His personal record has dropped by more than two minutes over the past two weeks. Bates' finished 13th, missing the all-conference team by just one place. Bates' performance was made even more impressive by the difficult, hilly Owen County course that despite modifications from its previously treacherous difficulty, is still the toughest in the North Central Kentucky Conference.

"We are starting to gear up for the rest of the season, so we had a hard workout Monday morning, then they traced Tuesday at the conference championships Tuesday evening," Coach Victoria Michels said. "As far as performance, all the girls did great. Micah Lineman had to pull out with hip soreness. Lilly looked strong and Katherine Buckler did it was just her fourth 5k and that will host the Class AA Region 4 meet in early November. For Henry County's middle school and elementary runners it was their season finale.

hard the course was. John's personal record was fairly significant and the other boys' times give me high hopes for the rest of the season.

Madison Peace of Walton-Verona won the girls race in a time of 21:56 and Hunter Trenary of Owen County was the boys' champion with a time of 16:47. Both runners look to be top contenders in the Class A state meet in early November.

RENAISSANCE RUN

On Saturday, the cross country Cats hosted the second annual Renaissance Run Invitational at the Highlands Renaissance Park in Eminence.

It was a chance for many of the teams in the Cats' region to race on the course that will host the Class AA Region 4 meet in early November. For Henry County's middle school and elementary runners it was their season finale.

The Eminence Warriors

also competed in the meet with several middle school runners in just their second 4k middle school meet.

The best finish of the day for Henry County runners belonged to 4th grader Keegan Kurtz who finished third in a strong elementary boys field with a personal record time of 11:41 in the 3k race. Fifth grader Isaac Logsdon also medaled with a 20th place finish.

In the girls' elementary medaled by finishing in 21st position.

In the girls' middle school race Lilly Golden, Katherine Buckler and Grace Golden all medaled, finishing in the top 25. Lilly was 6th overall and Buckler was 10th. They both had season best times on the day. Grace finished 21st and set a personal record.

The Warriors were led in this race by Tavenna West who finished 35th with a time of 21:17. Madison Dokter ran a season best time of 23:00 and Trinity Durrett set a personal record with 23:22.

The Henry County boys' middle school team also had three medalists. Finishing in 6th place was Brandon Handley with a personal record of 15:52. Sixth grader Andrew Landers finished in 12th with a personal record of 16:56 and Landon Morgan finished in 23rd place with a personal record of 18:24.

For Eminence, Sammy Roberts finished the race with a time of 25:31.

In the girls' junior varsity race, Eminence's Gabrielle Pittman finished with a time of 49:15.

In the boys junior varsity race, Cameron Morgan medaled with a time of 21:11, good for 20th place.

The girls varsity race featured a strong field that was led by Mercy Academy's Brianna Wolken who finished in 20:15. Mercy took the team crown as well.

For Henry County, Micah Lineman led the way finishing in 25:16. Cathryn Fischer finished in 25:53 and Izzy Miller registered a time of 26:04.

The young Wildcat varsity team found the going tough in a strong field as most of the boys helped out with meet all day. "I was proud of the effort our kids put in at the Renaissance Run," Coach Ricky Drawbaugh said. "Our kids were asked to help all day in running the meet and did not get to rest. Their times were good considering that they were on their feet all day helping with the meet."

Bullitt East won the boys meet while Owen County's Hunter Trenary took individual honors finishing in 16:34.

The Cats were led by Austin Payton in a time of 20:31. Payton's time was just 2 seconds off his personal record despite the day's work helping the coaches. Freshman Josh Logsdon was within 30 seconds of his personal record as he finished 3rd for the Cats.
